Online Safety Competition

The competition this year is to create a 'Signpost to e-Safety' design within the frame on the back of this message.

You can include as many signs on your post as you like, each one carrying a message for others. These messages can be ideas, advice or rules, and you can use words, pictures and/or emojis to explain them. Please try to create an interesting background too.
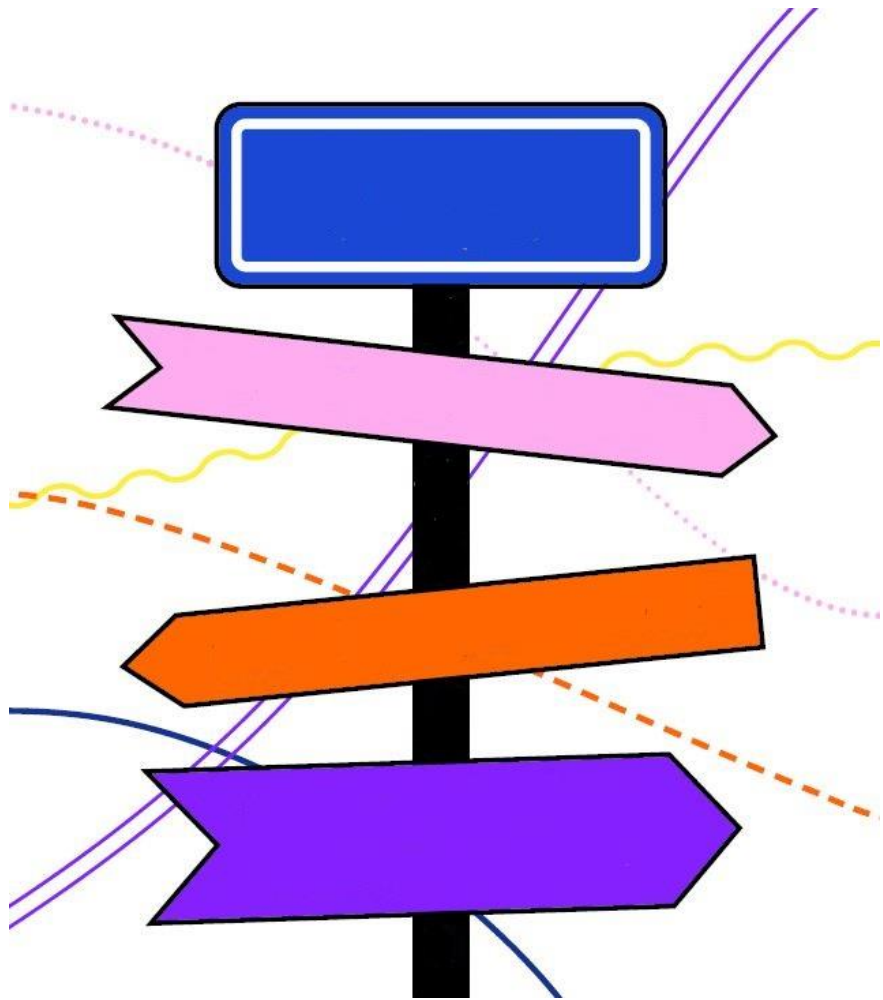

Please don't rush your work. The winners will be those that have thought about their ideas the most and have produced their work as carefully as they can.

You can create your design using pencils, felt pens, paints or collage. Remember to write your full name and class below!

Entries must be given to your class teacher by Friday 23rd February so that you have until after the holidays to complete your design. The Digital Leaders and teachers will be choosing a winner from each class.

In case you need it, this document is available to download from our website. Go to the Curriculum tab and scroll down to the Online Safety page.
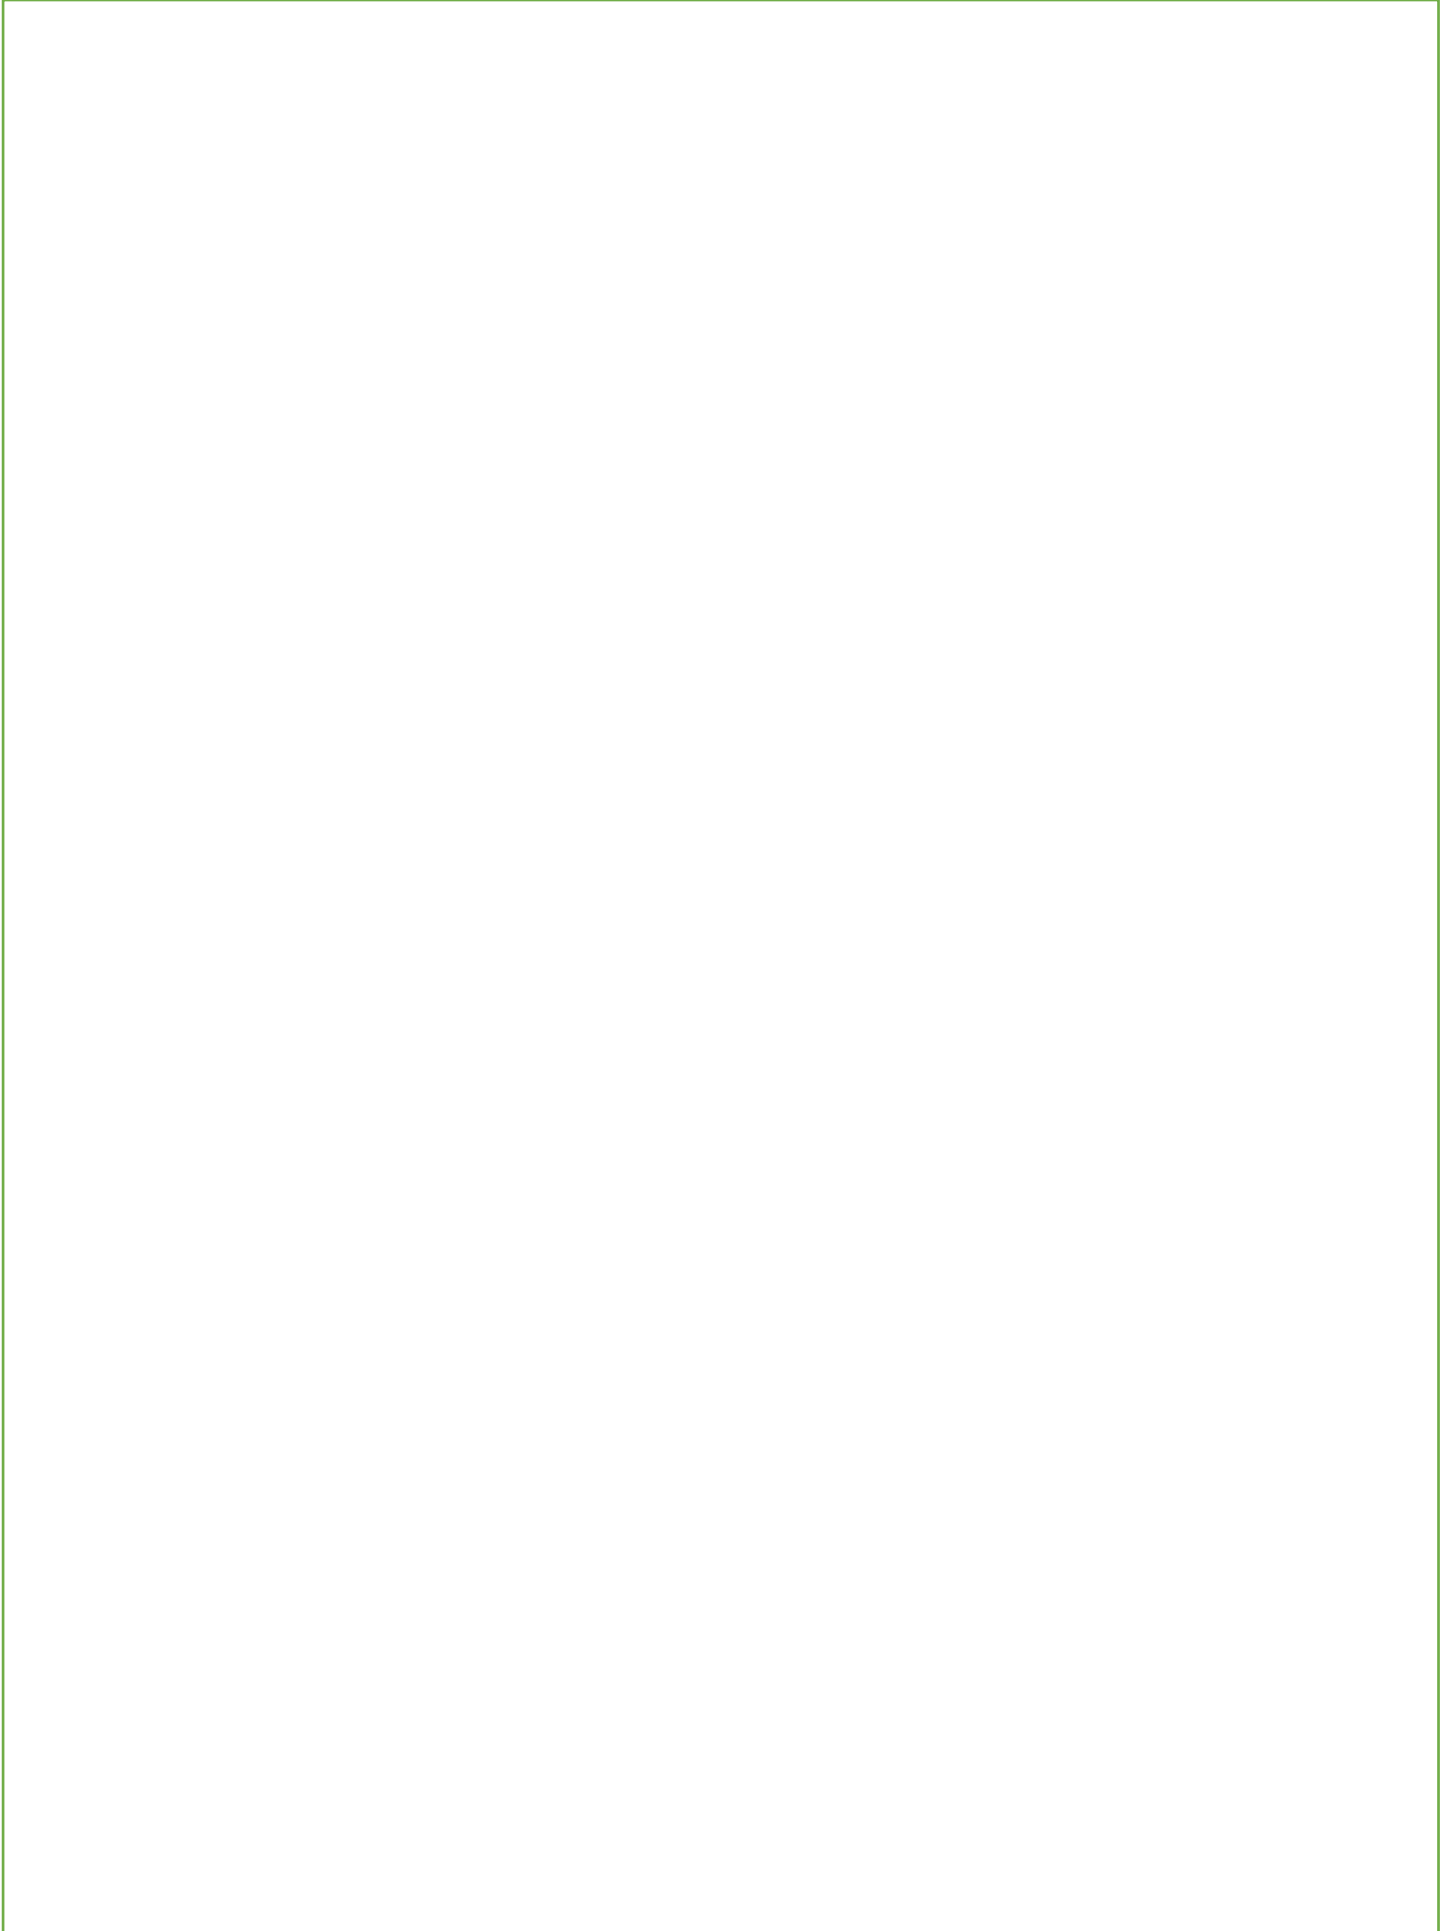

Good luck!
